

Transfer authorization add-on installation instructions for Internet Explorer

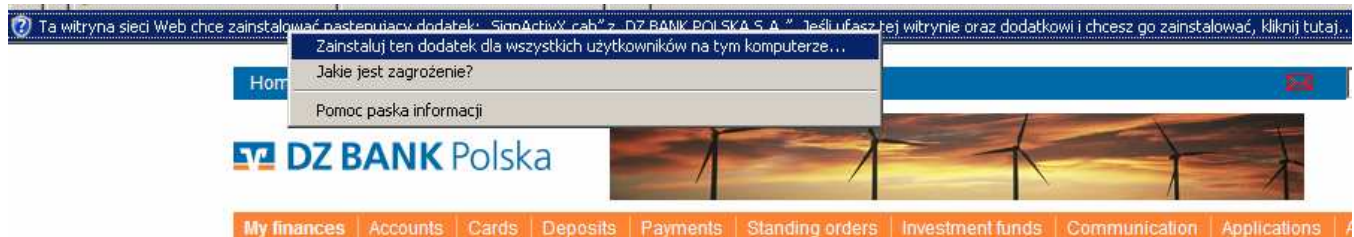

If you use Internet Explorer you may not be able to sign transfers. This is due to the missing SignActivX Control required for authorization.

The message advising you to install the add-on should appear automatically after you log in to the system.

At the top of the page you should see an information bar:

Right click the information bar and choose “Install ActivX control” (Zainstaluj ten dodatek dla wszystkich użytkowników na tym komputerze...):

Click “Install” (Zainstaluj) in the message window that appears next:

After the installation of the ActivX control you may authorize transfers using a file or a smart card.

You need administrative privileges to install the add-on. If the installation fails login using an administrative account and repeat the steps outlined above.
